WEEK-3: PHOTOS & VIDEOS LINKS

The screenshot shows the Eclipse IDE with a Java file named `Demo.java`. The code defines a package `com.jsp`, imports `java.lang.*`, and creates a public class `Demo`. Inside the class, there is a `main` method that declares two variables: `int val=10;` and `double val2=12.34;`. The IDE interface includes a Package Explorer on the left, a Task List on the right, and a Console at the bottom showing a terminated message.

```
1 package com.jsp;
2 import java.lang.*;
3
4 public class Demo {
5
6     public static void main(String[] args) {
7         int val=10;
8         double val2=12.34;
9     }
10 }
11
12
13 }
```

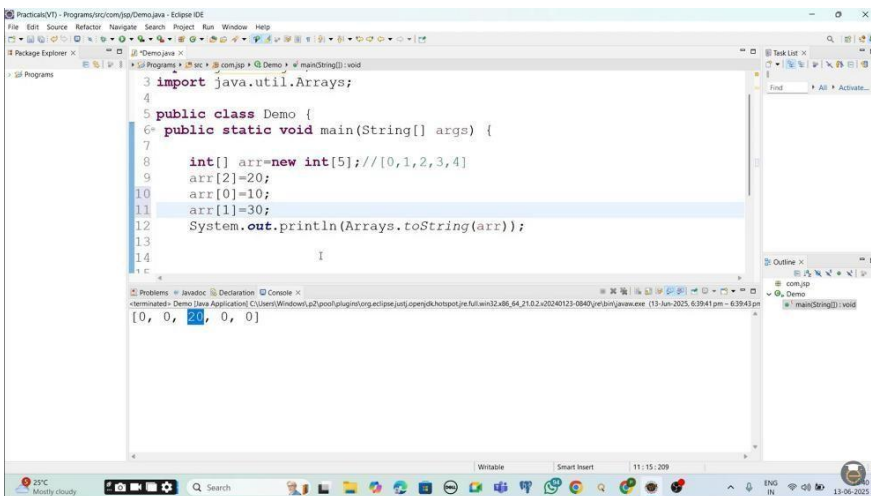

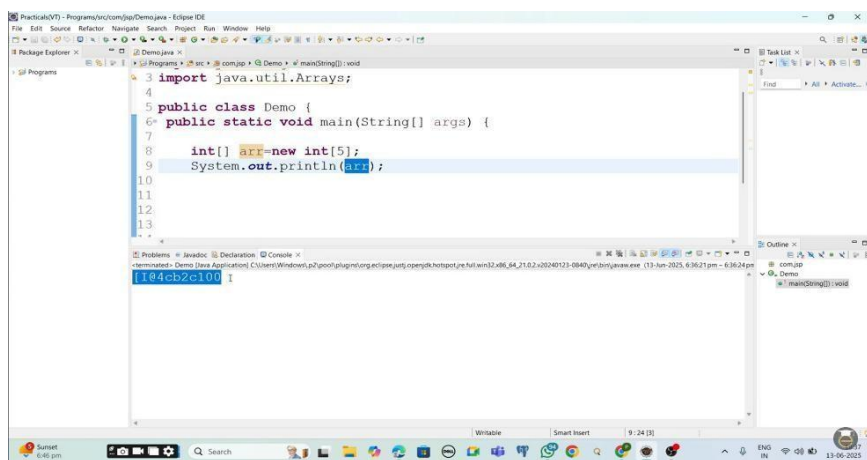

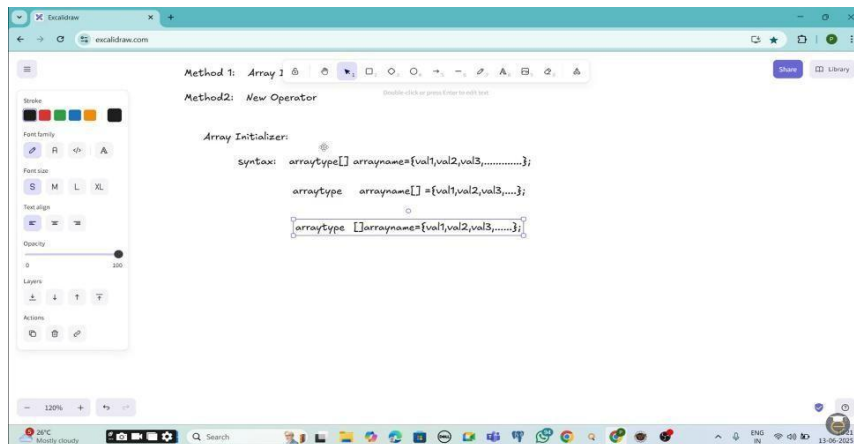

The screenshot shows the Eclipse IDE with the same `Demo.java` file. The code now includes a loop to calculate the factors of the number 8. It declares `int no=8;` and uses a `for` loop from `i=1` to `i=no`. Inside the loop, it checks if `no%i==0` and prints the value of `i` using `System.out.println(i);`. The IDE interface is similar to the previous screenshot, but the Console at the bottom shows the output of the program: `1`, `2`, `4`, and `8`.

```
3
4 public class Demo {
5     public static void main(String[] args) {
6
7         //Factors of a no
8         int no=8;
9         for(int i=1;i<=no;i++) {
10             if(no%i==0) {
11                 System.out.println(i);
12             }
13         }
14     }
15 }
16 }
```
